Programme Aims

Group programmes vary in content and intensity. You can choose to acquire the basic practical speaking and listening skills needed to cope with day-to-day scenarios when socialising and travelling abroad if you are a beginner or if you are more advanced you can join a course to ensure you progress to fast forward your Spanish through an intensive programme.

You'll also enhance your cultural knowledge of Spain and the ancient Spanish capital city first hand. You will learn the basics in UK & then consolidate in Toledo, Spain on this uniquely-tailored exclusive programme.

Personal Training

If you wish you can combine your group programme with a of personalised training for an additional 5 or 10 hours per week.

Alternatively, let us design a bespoke programme, tailor-made to your needs.

What level?

Here's an example of a Beginners group programme, with additional 121 extension work.

If you are not an absolute beginner you can choose to work at a more advanced level. Ask us, or scroll down take a look at the chart below .

Levels Explained

Each course we offer is mapped to the Common European Framework, CEFR or the International Curriculum of Chinese Language Education, ICCLE. The CEFR was established by the Council of Europe and grades language attainment levels from A1 beginners to C2 mastery level: A1, A2, B1, B2, C1, C2. A good GCSE C- A*, for example, represents level B1 on the CEFR. Find out more in our FAQs section where you can download our Language Bio questionnaire to assess your skills level.

Beginners: This level is for absolute beginners and is suitable if you wish to start from the beginning and have no previous knowledge of the language or if you wish to progress at absolute beginner pace. ∞

Working towards CEFR A1 0 contact hours needed

Beginners Plus: This level is for those who have completed an introductory survival course, our Starting Out Module or Weekender for Beginners or if you are a 'false beginner' or rusty returner' wishing to learn at beginner level. You can exchange some personal information and use a few set phrases. This level is made up of 6 incremental evening modules or two daytime modules.

∞ Working towards CEFR A1 from 5-9 hours needed for first module

Post Beginners: For those who have completed a beginner's course have equivalent experience or are returning to learn having learnt at a higher level. You should be able to get by well in a range of predictable day-to-day situations, although key 'beginner level' topic areas will be revisited and reinforced. At this stage you will learn to handle problems linguistically in familiar situations. You may be able to talk about past events, such as what you did on holiday last year, although this will be introduced/ consolidated within the first two modules of the Headway programme.

∞ Working towards CEFR A2 from approx 50 hours needed for first module

Pre - Intermediate: For those who have completed a post-beginners course recently, have equivalent experience or are returning to learning having learnt in the past at a higher level. You may have studied to GCSE or 'O' Level in the past. You wish to reactivate/consolidate prior learning progressing to a higher level. You can cope adequately in predictable day to day situations. You will be able to talk about what you usually do, what you have done, used to do and will do (use present, present perfect, imperfect and future) though you may still make basic errors. You will be able to interact with a native speaker providing they speak slowly and clearly. There is still a strong emphasis on listening and speaking. An 'Easy reader' reading text will be introduced at this level.

∞ Working towards CEFR A2 from approx 100 hours needed for first module

Intermediate: Working towards this level you should be able to communicate in everyday situations and on common topics using set phrases with confidence. You should be able to use present, future and some past tenses with reasonable accuracy and deal fairly confidently with authentic listening and reading materials at basic level. You will be able to give commands, make polite requests, cope with problems and unpredicted events in everyday routine situations and justify opinion simply.

∞ Working towards CEFR B1 from approx 150- hours needed for first module

Intermediate Plus: You may have lived abroad, or studied for more than 4 years in adult education or equivalent. You will be able to discuss topical issues and express yourself fairly well. You can confidently deal with authentic listening and standard reading material. You'll be able to cope with most situations likely to arise whilst travelling in an area where the language is spoken.. Can describe experiences and events, dreams, hopes & ambitions and briefly give reasons and explanations for opinions and plans. You'll be able to produce simple connected text on topics which are familiar or of personal interest

∞ Working towards CEFR B2 from approx 200 hours needed for first module

Pre - Advanced: At this level you should be able to express yourself quite fluently, although not always accurately, with a wide range of vocabulary and a command of comprehensive grammar structures. You should be able to use the target language in a variety of contexts. You can marshal arguments and express opinions. You can interact with a degree of spontaneity that makes regular interaction with native speakers quite possible without strain for either party. You can write discursively to explain and sustain argument and debate about topical issues. You will be fairly comfortable reading most authentic texts of contemporary writing.

∞ Working towards CEFR B2 from approx 200+ hours needed for first module

Advanced: You will be able to find strategies to understand a wide range of more challenging longer texts, and recognise implicit meaning. You can express yourself comfortably, fluently and spontaneously without too much obvious searching for expressions. You'll be able to use language flexibly and effectively for social, academic and professional purposes. You can produce succinct well-organised writing on complex subject. ∞ CEFR B2 + from approx 200+ hours needed for first module
